

St. Andrew the Apostle Catholic Church

Columbarium and Memorial Garden

The Columbarium provides a sacred place on Church property for the permanent repose of our departed loved one's cremated remains. The Columbarium is an answer to the age-old concern of the Christian community to participate in the proper disposition and identification of the earthly remains in hallowed ground, of those who have shared the fellowship of our Parish Family.

Catholic Church Beliefs

Cremation

The Catholic Church approved of cremations in 1963 as part of the reforms brought about at the Second Vatican Council. While the Church prefers burial or entombment, after the manner of Christ's own burial, it does not forbid cremation. The New Code of Canon Law (Can. 1176 #3) states: "The Church earnestly recommends that the pious custom of burying the bodies of the dead be observed; it does not, however, forbid cremation unless it has been chosen for reasons which are contrary to Christian teaching."

Funeral Liturgy

Though the Holy See in 1997 allowed U.S. Bishops to grant permission to have cremated remains present at funeral Masses, most bishops instruct their flocks to hold the funeral Masses before cremation.

Proper care of the cremated remains is required by the Church. Scattering of ashes, making them into jewelry, or keeping them in one's home, is not permitted. A cremated body should be given proper burial in hallowed ground.
